

Instrumentation Testing Architecture for Volume Knob Control in Android Automotive

Android Automotive Volume Control: Control: Process & Testing Architecture

A user adjust the car's volume using a physical knob on the steering wheel while listening to music on an Android automotive powered head unit.

